Customer Overview

Online Diagnosing Platform and Health Records Management

This is an online diagnosing platform helping people to find current diagnosis by making use of the wisdom of the crowd. User can explain his problem and submit it for review by other so-called diagnosers who then contemplate the problem and come up with possible diagnoses. The diagnosers are rewarded with points for effort and results. The web application also provides facility using which people can keep their medical information secure and accessible in one place.

Project Features

Below are the Key Features of the Web Application:-

- Patient can create their own health records and manage their health history.
- Questioner (user who submits a health related query) is able to post a question on which diagnosers can provide their advice.
- Admin moderates the health records and other data for authenticity of content and makes required changes in comments before publishing.
- Separate moderator panel where moderator can see all the front end site activity.

Problem Statement

It is very difficult to carry and keep health records in hard copy. Client wanted a platform where people can share their experiences and knowledge in a way to get fruitful information and also record their health related documents for future reference in one place.

CIS Solution

Right from the initial stage client was very clear about his idea for the application. We created a framework for the application which was further polished. Then after detailed analysis we came up with the exact application as the client had wanted.

Challenges During Implementation

Understanding complex health related terminology was a bit challenging in the start.

Positive Outcome

As a result of CIS solution, client was able to provide a product for the health care industry which makes the lives of patients and doctors easy. At our end, we acquired good experience of working in health care systems.
