PROBLEM STATEMENT

In this application, various combinations are used with products. Hence, the client faced lot of issues in maintaining quantity of products and their combinations. Client required a system that would solve the problem of managing product quantities and combinations.

CIS SOLUTION

We developed a custom module to solve the problem. In this module, the client is required to link all the combinations with his products. Whenever a product is sold then with the help of this module, the quantity of products as well as the combination of products will both be decreased at the same time.

CHALLENGES DURING IMPLEMENTATION

The large number of combinations of products posed challenges. One product combination was being used with different products.

POSITIVE OUTCOME

As a result of CIS solution, it became easy for client to maintain quantity of products and combinations. Additionally, there was a functionality added for providing customer with free shipping voucher. The admin is provided with a user friendly approach to manage quantity as well as free shipping voucher information.
